Westcoast Custom 64' Now at Crow's Nest Yachts' Docks in Seattle
Open House for New 64' and 62' Models Set for September 8-16

SEATTLE, Washington --- Crow's Nest Yachts Seattle is pleased to announce an upcoming open house September 8th – 16th for the new Westcoast Custom Yachts 64' and 62' models, now at its docks in South Lake Union. The new yachts, built in British Columbia, are ready for viewing by discerning boaters who are looking for well-built yachts perfect for West coast cruising.

“We are getting such a positive reaction to these models,” said Vic Parcels, Crow's Nest Yachts Seattle. “The open house leading up to and during the Lake Union Boats Afloat Show will give all those interested a chance to come aboard and get a close-up look at these new yachts.”

Westcoast Custom Yachts features 62' and 64' Pilothouse models, combining large interiors, roomy flybridges, and expansive cockpits with impressive performance, dependability and economy. The 64' model from their new line of low profile, customizable Express Cruisers, features modern European styling, with a comfortable, open interior. There is ample room aft, with a comfortable cockpit suitable for entertaining or fishing and crabbing.

Renowned boat builder Forbes Cooper came out of retirement to design and build these new yachts. He has been manufacturing boats since the 1970's, first with his Cooper sailboat, and then with the Cooper Prowler series of yachts in the 1980's. Now with Westcoast Custom Yachts, potential owners can customize the features they want.

“No two boats built over 50 feet are alike,” said Cooper, Westcoast Custom Yachts. “We show owners mock-ups of features and finishes they request to be certain we meet their approval before we build it.”

“These semi-custom designs are perfect for West Coast boaters,” said Dennis Riehl, Crow’s Nest Yachts Newport Beach. “They’re exactly the kind of yacht and price point that works well for either the weekend boater or serious long range yachtsman.”

Crow’s Nest Yachts maintains a high standard of excellence on the West Coast, and with the addition of Westcoast Custom Yachts, continues to provide exceptional service to exceed expectations of existing and prospective clients.

Crow’s Nest Yachts is marking more than 35 years of service to West Coast boaters with locations in Seattle, Washington, and in California in both San Diego and Newport Beach. Currently, Crow’s Nest Yachts has a wide selection of yachts available, with inventory valued at more than $47 million.
